GERMAN LEADERS OF JEWRY APPEAL TO HIGH OFFICIALS

Von Hindenburg, Hitler, Cabinet Members and Police Head Asked To Prevent Boycott Scheduled To Start Saturday.

EINSTEIN MOVES TO QUIT COUNTRY

GERMAN JEWS ASK HALT IN "LYING"

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—A message received here today from the Jewish community of Schwerin Am Der Warthe, Germany, asked that the "lying campaign" in foreign newspapers alleging persecution of the Jews in Germany be halted.

The message said: "The Jewish community of Schwerin Am Der Warthe asks that the lying campaign cease. Conditions in Germany are quiet and there has been no cruelty."

BERLIN, March 29.—(AP)—Leaders of German Jewry appealed to President Von Hindenburg, Chancellor Hitler, cabinet members and the Berlin police president tonight against the Nazi anti-Jewish boycott which begins throughout Germany on Saturday.

The appeal expressed confidence the president and the government will not "let our rights and means of existence be taken from us."

Declaring that German Jews had successfully put forth their utmost efforts to counteract reports abroad of Jewish persecutions and foreign boycott campaigns, and pledging that they would continue to do so, the document asserted that "despite this, German Jews are allegedly guilty party, are now to be ruined."

The appeal was signed by members of the general council of German Jews and the board of Berlin's Jewish community.

It appealed to the sense of justice of the German people and added that "the reproach that a Jewry is being prepared for German Jews who feel they are united to the German fatherland in heart and soul."

It was pointed out in the message that 12,000 of Germany's 500,000 Jews died in the World War.

Direct-action repressive measures by Chancellor Hitler's Nazis go under way against Jews in many parts of Germany today as a prelude to the nationwide boycott.

It was learned, meanwhile, that Professor Einstein has taken steps to renounce his Prussian citizenship.

Professor Einstein, a Jew, became a citizen in 1914 when he accepted a position with the Prussian Academy of Sciences. Upon landing at Brussels after his recent trip to the United States, he wrote to the German consulate there for information about the steps necessary to end his citizenship.

May Quit Germany

Professor Albert Einstein, famous Jewish physicist and mathematician, who seeks to renounce his Prussian citizenship, presumably as a result of anti-Semitic agitation in Germany. He is a native of Switzerland but has not indicated where he will make his home in the event he carries out his plan to quit Germany.

ROOSEVELT'S PLAN FOR FARM RELIEF MEETS HURDLES

Senate Committee Will Vote Today on Move To Guarantee Production Cost to Farmer.

BY DON J. KIRKLEY.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—The administration's broad farm relief plan pushed ahead over two senate agriculture committee hurdles today and its sponsors pressed forward with hopes of laying it before the senate by Friday or Saturday.

Disposing of an effort to remove sheep and cattle by a 3-vote margin to limit the sweeping bill to wheat and cotton by a 13-to-4 tally, committee members turned their attention to discussing proposed substitutes and other amendments.

Chairman Smith, democrat, South Carolina, of the senate agriculture committee, led in the vote on the bill to determine whether the farm relief program on which the committee now is working would include a definite plan to fix prices to insure farmers their production costs would be voted on tomorrow.

Smith said the committee had ordered drafted an amendment embodying ideas advocated by John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers' Union, to guarantee the farmer the cost of production on the portion of his crop going into the domestic market.

Other Proposals.
It will be taken up tomorrow he said, along with his own substitute for the sweeping administration bill and other proposals.

Meanwhile, another measure to help the farmer meet his mortgage debts and refinance them went along to the banking committee from the hands of Senator McCado, democrat, California, former secretary of the treasury, who proposed a federal farm mortgage bank.

McCado's bill, which he smilingly told newspapers was not offered for the administration, "to assist Mr. Roosevelt in formulating a farm mortgage program," seeks to cut interest rates to 4 and 1-2 percent and provide machinery for refinancing farm debts.

Referred to a banking subcommittee by Senator Wagner, democrat, New York, the bill is expected to receive the same treatment as several similar measures and be held by the senate until the administration's long-sought farm mortgage program is passed.

Under McCado's plan, the central government farm mortgage bank, based on the now-consolidated federal farm credit agencies, with $50,000,000 capital from the treasury, it would employ the land banks and joint stock land banks in carrying on its work.

Bonds Issued.
Bonds would be issued to banking institutions in exchange for mortgages held by them, with the bonds to be guaranteed by the government. It includes provisions for the mortgage debtor to amortize what he owes, and balance a budget without the support of the finance committee, but would let nature take its course.

The Grady trustees are understood to take the position that the hospital must be run on a highly efficient basis for the emergency and serious cases, and that they will not lower the efficiency of the hospital as a whole, but will eliminate a unit if it cut stands.

After Samuel C. Dobbs Sr., chairman of the Grady board, submitted the board's answer to the Chambers recommendations, the finance committee unanimously adopted a motion by Councilman George B. Lyle, a member of the committee, commending the Grady board for its efficient and effective conduct of the hospital.

The slash in Grady's appropriation voted by the committee is $40,000, of which $20,000 is to be taken from the hospital's operating fund.

3 Straus Brothers Give $1,000 to Georgia Hall

New York-Atlanta Mercantile Leaders Make Generous Donation as Campaign Heads Report Fine Response Throughout State.

RAYMOND A. Kline, vice president of the Davison-Paxon Company, announced Wednesday a contribution of $1,000 for Georgia Hall from Jesse Isidor Straus, Percy S. Straus and Herbert N. Straus, and at the same time, a personal contribution of $100 to the fund. The Straus brothers are the executive officers of Macy's in New York and have been closely identified with Georgia progress and history.

Scott W. Allen, president of Southern Grocery Stores, in a letter accompanying his check for $500, urged that all Georgians participate in the donations.

"Every individual in the state," he said, "should be actuated by the desire to have part in building Georgia Hall, and the many contributions, both large and small, show that such is the case. Those with limited means are taking their place with wealthier and more influential citizens in the list of donors."

Messages received Wednesday by campaign headquarters at 53 Poplar street indicated increasing optimism for early completion of the campaign to memorialize President Roosevelt and to furnish adequate quarters for upward of a hundred patients at the foundation. Cason J. Callaway, of LaGrange, chairman of the drive, reported his home county, Troun, as having contributed more than $3,000, or more than double the quota assigned.

"I believe," he said, "that every county in the state will respond fully in this cause."

While the Atlanta committee, augmented by committees appointed by civic clubs Tuesday, was reporting enthusiastic support, the following group: George Winslow, chairman; Joe M. Tull, Dudley R. Cowles, Eugene Ruffner, E. A. Thornwell, George H. J. K. Otley Jr. and Baxter Maddox.

The donation of $1,000 by the Straus brothers was hailed by Mr. Woodford as another example of the family's loyalty to Georgia, whose soil was the background of one of the mercantile romances of American history.

In 1848, the Straus family came to Tallahassee, Fla., from Europe, and established a small store. With three sons, Isidor, Nathan and Oscar he prospered and became a prominent citizen.

The Atlanta committee under leadership of Senator Smith, vice president of the campaign, reported other substantial subscriptions Wednesday, including $250 from the insurance company.

ROOSEVELT OFFERS MEASURE PURGING SECURITY SELLING

Congress Responds Quickly to President's Demand for Strict Control of New Issues.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Congress responded with alacrity today to a succinct message by President Roosevelt asking drastic federal regulation of new security issues.

Bills received from the White House requiring strict publicity of all future transactions and banning interstate sales of fraudulent issues promptly were introduced and started on their way.

In another of his brief and to-the-point special messages, his sixth in three weeks, the president told congress "the public has sustained serious losses through practices neither ethical nor honest on the part of many persons and corporations selling securities."

He made it clear that this proposal is just the first step in a general movement to seek "a return to a clearer understanding of the ancient truth that those who manage banks, corporations and other agencies handling or using other people's money are trustees acting for others."

At his direction, experts, including Samuel Untermyer, of New York, were busy tonight drafting legislation to extend federal control over the stock and commodity exchanges of the country.

This measure will be advanced shortly to congress. It will be followed by proposals to put the banking system under stricter control and including the divorce of banks and security affiliates; separation of commercial and trust banking organizations and an extension of the same regulations to private banking as pertain to public institutions.

Mr. Roosevelt was anxious to explain to the public in his message to congress that the government can not guarantee full future security issues. In fact, he made it clear that none could be government-insured.

"There is, however," he said, "an obligation upon us to insist that every issue of new securities be sold in interstate commerce shall be accompanied by full publicity and information, and that no essentially important element affecting the issue shall be concealed from the buying public."

Members Applaud.
Members of congress applauded as the words were read. Chairman Rayburn, of the house interstate commerce committee, promptly introduced the bill and called hearings for Friday.

The president extended his projected regulation also to foreign government securities offered in this country. Investigation sponsored by Senator Johnson, republican, California, has shown extensive losses also in these investments.

The bill's transmission is directed to supervise the securities regulation while the department of justice would be placed in charge of prosecution.

Here is what is required in the way of public information on all future domestic issues:

Nature of the issues of the stock, promoters, trustees, officers, etc.; the amount of paid up capital; the numbers and types of shares with the description of their respective voting rights; dividends, profits, and the amount of funded debt; a balance sheet showing a detailed list of assets and liabilities; a statement of the amount of the issues' incomes, expense and fixed charges during the preceding fiscal year; the plan of the proposed issue; the price offered to the public; all bonuses, commissions and the amount returned to capital investment together with the names of all those composing the syndicate.

American representatives of foreign governments issuing securities in this country would be required to show in the same detail all their relations with the securities, including bonuses and commissions.

Neither the sale nor the advertisement by print or spoken word will be allowed in interstate traffic until all this information is supplied the federal trade commission.

SENATE WILL PASS ON AMENDED PLAN FOR FOREST 'ARMY'

Republican Ties Up Legislation in Parliamentary Tangle But Democratic Strength Saves Day for Administration.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's project to put 250,000 unemployed men to work in the forests was passed by the house tonight after smashing through a mild revolt and being temporarily jammed in one of the worst parliamentary tangles seen in years.

The bill, which was attacked today as an undue grant of power, now goes back to the senate for action on two amendments which the house added to the measure. The senate passed the measure yesterday. Debate today was sprinkled with cries of "Hitler!"

There was no roll call vote. Representative Carroll Beedy, republican, Maine, who led the fight against the measure, charged the bill as responsible for the parliamentary maneuver that blocked the bill temporarily late today just as the house was about to vote on this project.

Committee Challenged.
Striking at the vitals of the bill, after warning the house that it should check its grants of power to the chief executive, Beedy challenged the right of the labor committee, a legislative committee, to authorize the president to divert appropriations for public works to this project.

After a noisy wrangle Representative Ralph F. Lozier, democrat, Missouri, who was presiding, started democratic leaders upholding the Maine congressman. This would have removed the appropriation to finance the project.

Majority Floor Leader Joseph W. Byrns hurriedly moved a recess for 10 minutes. The rules committee was summoned quickly. It returned a few minutes later with the amendment in order. The house swiftly adopted this rule by the necessary two-thirds, 189 to 71. This solved the puzzle for embarking on the project, and the house proceeded to a final vote.

Prompt acceptance of this amendment is expected tomorrow. Thus the bill may be signed by President Roosevelt and become law by tomorrow night. The president expects to have the first contingent of unemployed in the woods in three weeks. They will spend a few days first in army camps.

The president is empowered in the bill to enlist the unemployed and put them to work in the forests in a manner and at a wage he is to determine. The senate eliminated the original dollar-a-day wage specified in the measure, though it was generally accepted that the president would retain this figure. The men are to be

RUBY BATES' KIN MAY PRODUCE GIRL

Father's Emissary Offers
To Surrender Attack
"Victim" "for a Price."

DECATUR, Ala., March 29.—(AP)—An offer to produce Ruby Bates, one of the victims of an alleged attack in the "Scottsboro case," who has been missing several days, for an interview "if the price was right" was reported to have been made to newspapers here today.

The offer was said to have come from a man who represented himself as an emissary of the Bates girl's father, who he represented as being greatly in need of money.

Attorney-General Thomas E. Knight earlier had conferred with Bates, who is being cared for by a local charitable organization, and who was reported to have told the attorney-general he knew nothing of his daughter's whereabouts.

Later it was understood the attorney-general had obtained the girl's address, and had sent officers there to search for her.

The incident came as defense attorneys were laying plans for a new broadside at the Alabama jury system when Heywood Patterson, of Chattanooga, the first of seven negroes involved, goes to trial tomorrow.

Smith Under Pressure To Put "Hat in Ring"

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Pressure is being brought to bear on Alfred E. Smith by his friends and associates. It was learned tonight, to persuade him to re-enter the political ring as a candidate either for mayor of New York city or United States senator.

The office of mayor will be filled at the November election, while the seat in the senate now occupied by Dr. Royal S. Copeland will be the object of a ballot contest in 1934.

Smith himself, a close associate said, has been noncommittal with even his most intimate advisors, adopting the attitude that it is too early to decide on any course.

The fate of Emmett Gibson, negro, charged with the murder in January of Hamp McGee, West End taxi operator, slain with a shotgun fired from the dark through his window, will rest in the hands of a superior court jury early this afternoon, according to Judge E. E. Fomery, presiding over the case.

Presentation of testimony ended late Wednesday afternoon and all that remains before the jury gets the case is the presentation of arguments and the judge's charge. Testimony Wednesday was featured by the defendant's sworn statement in which he denied all knowledge of the crime and asserted that officers had beaten and intimidated him into making a confession.

Solicitor John A. Boykin in rebuttal presented two officers and a member of his own staff who testified that the confession was given freely. Gibson's signed confession was admitted as part of the material evidence.

GEORGIA POWER TO TRY NEW RATES SCHEDULE

Hope that the newly ordered schedule of electric rates for the Georgia Power Company would "satisfy every class of customer" and lead to a "cessation of political attack" was expressed Wednesday in a statement by Preston S. Arkwright, president of the company.

He said that declining revenues as a result of the business depression had left the company "in no position to stand this additional cut in our rates," but added that after consideration the company had decided not to contest the rate order in court at this time.

He expressed confidence courts would uphold company objections to the new schedule but said that "with some few rays of hope beginning to break through the clouds of business depression, there is an obligation upon everyone to dispense with wrangling and unite for the common cause. Because of these circumstances, we will at least give the new rates a fair trial, though frankness compels me to say that, if business conditions should grow worse instead of better, we may be forced to petition for more adequate rates."

His statement follows: When the question was asked by the newspapers as to what action the Georgia Power Company would take in regard to the further reduction in our electric rates announced Wednesday by the Georgia public service commission, I did not feel able to give an offhand answer to a question of such great importance.

After further consideration, the company's decision is that it will not contest the rate order at this time. The company's revenues have been decreasing steadily and progressively over a long period of months, due to the curtailment of general business activity. Under such adverse conditions, we are in no position to stand this additional cut in our rates, especially when it comes on top of a series of previous rate cuts which have been made over the past few years.

I am convinced in my own mind that if we were disposed to contest this additional reduction in the courts, the courts would sustain us. However, we are not disposed to subject the state to the bitterness of a prolonged legal controversy under the extraordinary circumstances of national emergency now existing.

With some few rays of hope beginning to break through the clouds of business depression, there is an obligation upon everyone to dispense with wrangling and unite for the common cause. Because of these circumstances, we will at least give the new rates a fair trial, though frankness compels me to say that, if business conditions should grow worse instead of better, we may be forced to petition for more adequate rates.

It is unreasonable to hope that these same circumstances of national and local emergency may likewise lead to an adjournment of political attack on this company, at least until the emergency has passed.

Our job, the job of all of us, is to get the best out of the ditch. Certainly no fair-minded person believes that Georgia can prosper as long as the state's largest industry and its largest taxpayer is subjected constantly to a wholly unwarranted and unjustified attack by a few agitators actuated solely by the desire to promote their own selfish interests.

And certainly we have a better right today to ask for an adjournment of this attack than ever before. Our rates already were among the lowest in the nation. The commission's order makes them even lower. The order likewise eliminates from our rates those features which were claimed to be most objectionable.

When the new rates become effective on April 1, the residential customers will no longer be asked to pay a dollar a month, the service charge, without receiving any kilowatt hours for his dollar. Instead we are returning to the minimum charge type of rate. Even the most active critics of the service charge have stated publicly that they consider the minimum charge a fair plan, and it has the sanction of custom, as minimum charge type rates were in effect in Georgia for many years before the service charge was adopted in 1929.

With this substitution of the minimum charge for the service charge, no customer will pay the dollar and get no kilowatt hours along with it. On the contrary, even the smallest customer will get the use of five kilowatt hours for the payment of his dollar minimum charge, and it will permit many small homes which have gone back to oil lamps within the past year to again enjoy the benefits of electric lighting.

The commission's order gives our rural customers a rate which is, I believe, the lowest rural rate in the nation. I have investigated it and I have been unable to find any rate in the whole world as low as this for rural customers. With the line rental charge wiped out, these customers benefit from the commission's order to an extent that should eliminate all possible complaint from this source.

The state at large, as well as the industrial customers, should benefit from the commission's amendment of the demand charge paid by these customers. It should stimulate industrial activity, with a resultant increase in pay rolls and the flow of money into the channels of trade.

The new residential rate gives its greatest benefits in rate reductions to the smallest customers. The 1929 rate revision gave a substantial reduction to all customers using 30 kilowatt hours a month or more. The new rate order gives a substantial reduction to those using less than 30 kilowatt hours a month, the reductions running as high as a 20 per cent decrease. The two orders together ought to satisfy every class of customer.

The new rate gives the very small customer an advantage he did not previously possess, without taking away anything from the larger customer. All of the promotional features of the present rate are retained and made still more attractive from the customer's standpoint.

Not a single customer's rates are increased by the new order. On the contrary, practically every customer's rates are reduced in some amount. I am aware that the reductions to individual customers are not large, but multiplied by 377,000, the total number of residential customers, they amount to a very large total. None of the customers are asked to stand a loss in order that other customers may benefit from the lower rates. The company is asked to stand the entire loss, with no compensation to the company for its loss unless we can hope to be compensated through a cessation of political attack.

CUBAN SENATE FAILS TO VOTE ECONOMIC PLAN

More Salary Slashes Forecast for County

Probability of recommendations of further salary cuts and operating expense reductions in the county was foreseen Wednesday as the result of a special session of the Fulton county grand jury to which members of the county board of commissioners and the county auditor were invited to appear.

It was reported that the grand jury is of the opinion that the present salary rate is too high and that further reductions are necessary. A second special session is slated for next Tuesday afternoon to go more deeply into the salary matter.

At the Wednesday meeting the department of public works was the chief topic of discussion. According to members of the board of commissioners, the jury made inquiry as to the feasibility of centralizing all convict camps to eliminate expense and reduce the number of guards and other employees. Questions also were asked concerning the legal process pending in the higher courts of the state through which a loan of $1,900,000 is sought to be enjoined by a private concern.

BRITISH FORD PLANT WILL REOPEN TODAY

DAGENHAM, Eng., March 29.—(AP)—A three-day strike over wages at the Ford Motor Company plant was settled this afternoon when representatives of the strikers agreed to accept a new minimum wage rate.

The strike affected 7,000 men. The plant is expected to reopen tomorrow.

CINCINNATI FINDS SELF VIRTUALLY 'LAWLESS'

All Ordinances Passed Since 1927 May Have To Be Re-Enacted.

CINCINNATI, March 29.—(AP)—Cincinnati today, its officials feared, was a city without laws except those in its six-year-old charter.

The state supreme court ruled an assessment ordinance was invalid because it was not published in a "newspaper of general circulation." The city council, fearing the ruling was applicable to every statute published only in the City Bulletin, since 1927, prepared to re-enact them all.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant, however, expressed the informal opinion many statutes might be upheld if submitted for individual rulings. The court, he said, had passed on "only one Cincinnati ordinance."

Luckies Please!

Fujiyama, the eighth wonder of the world

In every corner of the world, both here and overseas, wherever you find joy in life, 'tis always "Luckies Please"

First in character...
first in mildness...
first in smoking pleasure

Among smart, cosmopolitan folk, you'll hear of Luckies in many languages—but the meaning is always the same—"Luckies Please!"... For people the world over want a cigarette with Character...and Mildness. Lucky Strike's rich, delightful Character comes from that mellow, balanced blend of fine tobaccos.

And—these splendid tobaccos are truly mild! Because every fragrant shred is "Toasted". For these two reasons—Character and Mildness—"Luckies Please!"

U. S. REGULATION OF OIL PROPOSED

President Roosevelt Urged To Take Action Looking to Enactment of Laws.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—The oil industry's troubles were laid before President Roosevelt tonight with the urgent request that he ask congress to pass legislation for the unprecedented government regulation of its affairs.

The administration-sponsored governors' aid conference late today approved unanimously a sweeping program "to meet the existing emergency," the principal points of which were recommendations that a personal representative of the chief executive be named to help bring about order in the oil business, and that a law be passed to keep that order.

The conference, in session during the last three days, included representatives of the governors of 13 petroleum producing states, of the major oil companies and many independent producers. Early in the deliberations, however, an independent group headed by John B. Elliott, of Los Angeles, broke away and presented recommendations completely at variance with those adopted.

Elliott, who was President Roosevelt's campaign manager in California during last year's campaign, called with his group at the White House during the day. He said his delegation was "eminently satisfied with our conference."

The majority program sent to the White House through Secretary Ickes also recommended that President

Leviathan May Abandon Trans-Atlantic Service

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—

The New York American understands the liner Leviathan, largest of the passenger craft operating under the American flag, is to quit transatlantic passenger service next month.

A meeting is to be held in Washington soon—perhaps today—the American was informed, at which definite action will be taken by the United States Lines to turn the liner back to its owner, the Shipping Board. Declining business was given as the reason.

Roosevelt immediately call upon the governors of California, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico to close, until April 15, all flush wells in their states, excepting those which would be irreparably damaged by shutting down.

The weight of the White House prestige also was sought to get the governors and legislatures of states lacking adequate conservation laws to pass such legislation without delay.

The oil men believe they can arrive at quotas which would prevent over-production.

Once the quotas were allocated, congress, should the president agree, would be urged to pass legislation preventing the shipment out of a state of petroleum or its derivatives made in violation of these quota regulations.

The oil men felt that this federal law would end quickly violations of the state laws.

The oil men and representatives of the governors said frankly that the federal law prohibiting interstate shipments would be of little value unless the states arrived at satisfactory curtailment figures.

The power of federal suasion, should the program go through, would be depended upon to get the line on a maximum limit pending further study of a 2,000,000-barrel daily production limit.

NAYLOR TO ADDRESS LOCAL AD MEN TODAY

H. C. Naylor, president of the Lane Drug Stores, will speak at a luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Ad Club today at 12:30 o'clock at the Ansley

Hotel. His subject will be "Merchandising the Modern Drug Store."

Mr. Naylor will speak from an intimate acquaintance with his subject, having been in close contact with the drug business for more than 25 years, including his present connection with the Lane Drug Stores.

He will compare the drug store of a decade ago with the modern one. Then the drug store was merely an apothecary's shop; today drug stores are centers of modern merchandising. Then they sold mainly curative medicines; today they deal in preventative remedies.

Mr. Naylor will discuss modern methods of buying, merchandising and advertising.

306,006 R. F. C. Loan Approved for Georgia
Herman De La Perriere, state director of Reconstruction Finance Corporation loans, Wednesday received notice that the R. F. C. had approved a loan of $306,006 to the state of Georgia for 27 different political subdivisions.

The loan director also revealed Wednesday that Marcus McWhorter, former director of the motor vehicle division of the state department of revenue, who was ousted last week by Governor Talmadge, has been added to his office as a field agent.

Mr. De La Perriere, who returned from Washington Wednesday morning after a conference with Reconstruction Finance Corporation officials, said the corporation had forbidden him to make public the cities and counties which are to share in the loan.

The funds are to be used for relief purposes between now and April 30.

Action Is Postponed On World Court Issue
WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—The senate foreign relations committee today discussed the long pending protocol of American adherence to the World Court, but postponed action until next week.

Chairman Pittman explained after the executive session that due to the fact that all members were not present, it was decided to put off until next Wednesday a motion to favorably report the protocol.

President Roosevelt is understood to favor senate disposition of the question, although the leadership here say it will not be pressed as long as the emergency relief program is still unacted upon.

17,250 Police Seek Slayer of Girl, 6
NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Balked in their efforts to find the man who criminally assaulted six-year-old Barbara Wiles and then strangled her to death with a rope, officials tonight threw every one of New York city's 17,250 patrolmen into the hunt.

A general order was issued instructing all the patrolmen to make periodic checks of every laundry and tailor shop on their beats in an attempt to trap the slayer through his blood-stained clothing.

The dead child's daughter of an English-born cricket player was the sixth girl under seven years of age to be thus attacked in Brooklyn within two years. Four of the victims died.

The general police order followed 24 hours of intensive police activity. Every clue turned in was run down. None was fruitful.

W. C. T. U. To Fight Against Use of Beer

Ford Plant Workers End English Strike
DAGENHAM, England, March 29.—(AP)—Crowds of workers massed at barricades cheered an announcement today that the strike was ended and the Ford motor works would open tomorrow.

The settlement was reached between Sir Percival Perry, head of the company, and a deputation of workers unopposed by trades union officials, a condition the company insisted upon.

For a five-day, 40-hour week, the minimum wages will be 27 pence (currently about 30 cents) an hour for skilled workers; 21 pence (24 cents) for semi-skilled workers, and 18 pence (26 cents) for unskilled workers, such as laborers and janitors.

This new pay scale is higher than the scale the company sought to establish and against which the strike, affecting 7,000 workers, was called.

Walsh had been selected as the attorney-general.

Engraved in his urgent domestic program, Mr. Roosevelt has had little opportunity to give further consideration to his choice of aids.

Father Unwittingly Poisons Family With Meat Found in Chicago Alley
CHICAGO, March 29.—(AP)—Through ignorance, John Frapselli, father of 10 children, a city street sweeper with wages long overdue, admitted today he unwittingly poisoned his family with meat which he found in an alley.

Two of the children, James, 9, and Anthony, 11, are dead, while four others are critically ill. Mrs. Frapselli is near death. Four other children apparently were unaffected by the food.

In a jail cell Frapselli told of the desperate chance he took to provide his family with meat.

"Every day the children seemed to grow more pale and thin," he said. "I was working only four days a week and had received no pay for months."

"I found a dead pig in an alley and decided I would take a chance. First I ate some of the meat myself, and it didn't seem to harm me."

Then, Frapselli said, he gave some of the food to the family. James and Anthony were taken ill in a few hours. Frances and Dorothy, twins 3 years old, were not expected to live today, and Jennie, 14, and Joseph, 20, also were desperately ill.

Neighbors cared for the other children. Theresa, 2; Philip, 4; Conrad, 16, and Rose, 18.

Senate Lifts Medicinal Rum Ban With Many Solons Ignorant of Act
WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Before some of the members realized what was up, the senate today passed and sent to the house a bill removing all limitations now imposed on doctors in issuing liquor prescriptions for medicinal purposes.

It had been before the senate less than 10 minutes when, without debate and with a mere voice vote, the measure was put through. Then Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, apparently without realizing what had happened, took the floor to speak against the bill. Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, observed that "at least we ought to have an explanation of the measure from the bill's proponents."

Senator King, democrat, Utah, who had called up the bill, said that was no longer necessary, the bill had passed. Senators laughed, but through the clamor Sheppard could be heard telling his colleagues he had voted against it.

The measure was sponsored by Copeland, democrat, New York, and in abolishing existing restrictions, provides that "no more liquor shall be prescribed to any person than is necessary to supply his medicinal needs."

House approval is expected, since last session it asked a similar bill which died on the senate doorstep. The American Medical Association has long sponsored the legislation and the Wickersham commission recommended it.

Present government prescription blanks will be eliminated and stamps will be substituted.

4 Britons Captured By Chinese Pirates
NEWCHANG, Manchuria, March 29.—(AP)—A group of armed Chinese pirates tonight kidnaped four British officers from the British merchantman Nanchang, which was anchored at the Newchang bar.

They had swarmed aboard the steamer from three junks, which opened up heavy fire as they drew alongside. British gunboats began an immediate search for the pirates and their victims. The men abducted are W. F. Hargrave, A. D. Blue, F. L. Pears and Charles Johnson.

RAMSPECK BATTLES FOR JOB BILL PASSAGE

Georgia Solon Defends Proposal of Roosevelt in Stirring Plea.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—Substituting for Representative Connery, of Massachusetts, chairman of the labor committee, the youthful Robert Ramspeck, of Decatur, today led the fight for passage of the reforestation bill, one of the major links in President Roosevelt's rehabilitation program.

As a high-ranking member of the labor committee, Mr. Ramspeck was designated to take charge of the bill after Connery announced he was opposed to it. The Georgian allotted all time on the measure and closed debate for the administration.

"That great humanitarian in the White House, who knows misfortune himself, wants to take other unfortunate out of soup kitchens, bread lines and missions and give them a chance to become independent once more," he shouted at the house just before a vote was taken on the Connery amendment which was proposed as a substitute for the Roosevelt bill.

"I have a deep and abiding affection for the chairman of the labor committee," he declared in urging that all amendments to the senate bill be voted down, "but I fear he has gone off on a sidetrack as far as President Roosevelt's relief program is concerned. This bill, as it was reported out by our committee, is the cornerstone of President Roosevelt's relief program, and if we destroy it by adopting the Connery amendment we will not be upholding the hands of our chief in whom the nation has the utmost confidence."

Mr. Ramspeck was interrupted repeatedly by members of the house who were anxious to place the proper interpretation on the committee bill, and he answered every query with the same frankness that has always characterized his service in congress.

In answer to Representative Connery's charge that in paying laborers in the forests but $30 a month, union labor's wage scale was being violated, Mr. Ramspeck said the bill had nothing whatever to do with establishing a new wage scale but rather that it was purely a relief measure which sought to better present economic conditions.

"If enacted into law," the Georgian said, "this bill will create jobs for countless thousands of our unemployed who otherwise would be standing in bread lines. Not only that, but it will give many of our unemployed a chance to get real jobs after they have worked in forests for a short time."

Asked by Representative Goss, of Connecticut, to explain how the measure provided for liquidating projects, as claimed by its supporters, Mr. Ramspeck said if reforestation was properly carried out it would add tremendously to the value of our forest lands.

A number of representatives questioned him closely as to what attitude he thought President Roosevelt would take in the matter of distribution among the various states.

"I have no doubt," he declared, "but that the president will be fair and impartial in distributing jobs to the 48 states in proportion to their population and unemployment."

Movie Industry Probe Is Sought in House

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Investigation into the motion picture industry by a house committee of seven was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Representative Sirovich, democrat, New York.

In a statement, Sirovich charged that "assets of corporations within the industry are being dissipated, dividends are being passed, stock values are being lowered and nothing is being done to protect the rights of stockholders in good faith of the corporations."

Sirovich charged "extravagance continues in expenditures in the industry through extravagant compensations paid to officials, players, directors and other employees" while "writers and creators" have been "notoriously underpaid."

The committee would be authorized to "study all receiverships, bankruptcies, all leasing and building of motion picture theaters," and would be empowered to subpoena witnesses, records, and report to the present congress at a later session.

SOUTHERN SOCIETY SPEAKER PRAISES PRESIDENT TYLER
NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—John Tyler was termed tonight by Hugh Gordon Miller, chairman of the New York Southern Society's speakers' committee, "the most independent and record-breaking" president the nation has had.

In an address commemorating the 143d anniversary of Tyler's birth in Charles City county, Virginia, on March 29, 1790, Miller listed some of Tyler's "firsts."

"Tyler was our first 'accidental' president."

"He has been the only president to succeed to the office by votes of a party of which he was not a member."

"He was the first vice president to be elevated to the office of president."

"He was the first president to marry in the White House."

"Tyler was graduated from old William and Mary College, the only college to be the alma mater of four presidents."

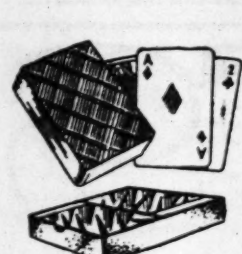

"President Tyler died 71 years ago at the age of 71."

"When Tyler ran for Congress the second time, he received every vote in his home county, a record which has probably not been bettered in any free country in modern times, unless under the influence of some dictator."

New Atlanta Crackers Play Washington Here This Afternoon

A Couple of Noble Experiments Are Here Today

A couple of noble experiments come to town today. Clark Griffith, who once almost saddled himself with the white elephant of the old Cracker organization at a price of $600,000, a daffy price even for the old dizzies when the streets were paved with gold, brings his Washington Senators to the city for a three-day stay.

His experiment is Joe Cronin, the 27-year-old San Franciscan, the youngest manager in the major leagues. He need not worry a great deal about Joe Cronin. These lads from south of the slot in S. F. have a way of making good, especially when they are Irish. But every one south of the slot at San Francisco is Irish.

There was Jim Corbett, Willie Ritchie, Frankie Neal, all champions. And there was Tad, the cartoonist, and Bill McGeehan, the sports writer—all from San Francisco. The game has needed someone from San Francisco and Joe Cronin is probably the one.

More important to the city is the return of the Crackers. They have enjoyed a nice vacation on the bay at Mobile and return shrouded in mystery and sunburn. The home trade will get its first look at them this afternoon when Charley Moore, as Irish as Joe Cronin and just as much on the spot, trots them out to meet the Senators.

The Crackers are a brand-new organization. The bait they used to almost snare Clark Griffith, the Old Fox of Washington square, spoiled entirely a couple of years later. No one would come close to purchasing it after the Old Fox shied away.

The new outfit is expected to rise Phenix-like from the ashes. It has always been a matter of conjecture as to just how a Phenix rises. Ancient mythology declares that the Phenix bird appeared just every 500 years, burning itself on the altar and arising again, young and beautiful.

It has been about 500 years, judged by the wear and tear on the nerves and feelings of John Fan, since the Crackers had a ball club. Hence this may be the Phenix team. There are no beautiful players on the team. No one thinks they are beautiful. (There is one exception to this. A young lady in Louisville thinks Charley Moore is beautiful, but she is known to be prejudiced.) Nevertheless, this may be the Phenix team that will arise from the wreckage and alight on the pennant pole in September.

TWO GREAT RECORDS.

The foremen of the ball clubs have remarkable records. Joe Cronin's is most remarkable. He broke into baseball in 1925 at the tender age of 19. Pittsburgh signed him. He was promptly farmed out to the Mid-Atlantic league. The next season saw him at New Haven. The Pirates kept him sitting on the bench, with the exception of a few games, in 1927, and in 1928 he was sold to the Kansas City outfit. Washington bought him in midseason. He became the regular shortstop in 1929, was the league's sensation in 1930 and pushed along at top speed the next two seasons. This season he is cracking the whip over the entire herd, the youngest manager of the majors.

A broken leg kept Charley Moore out of a big league trial which undoubtedly would have found him sticking as a first-string catcher. He became a manager against his will.

In four years he won two pennants, lost another in a play-off and yanked a hopeless last-place club up into the race within the space of six weeks. There is no managerial record like that one in the minor leagues.

This season finds him stepping into the toughest spot in the minors—walking into the graveyard of managers—and already looking like a first division club.

You may smack your hands vigorously at a couple of deserving young men this afternoon when Joe Cronin and Charley Moore step on the field.

"OH, MY GOODNESS," SAID JOSEPH.

There is no finer character in baseball than Clark Griffith. He has been in baseball about 48 years, a couple of years shy of Wilbert Robinson's record of 50.

He was a great pitcher in his day and later managed the Yankees, White Sox and Senators. He helped form the American league and he has been one of its sturdiest pillars ever since.

The story of how he almost became owner of the Atlanta baseball club is one replete with startling denouements.

The first announcement came in The Constitution, a dispatch from Chattanooga saying that Clark Griffith was in that city on his way to Atlanta to purchase the club. So vigorous was R. J. Spiller's denial of any intent to sell what was his property, that the denial was given as much space as the story.

The next day Griffith arrived with E. B. Eynon, his secretary, and Joe Engel, scout. Before the day was done Griffith had taken an option on the club, Engel was named president and plans were made to rush reinforcements to Atlanta from Washington in a great effort to win the pennant that season. It was then June.

Two days later President Joe Engel was sitting in his office. The telephone shrilled. President Engel lifted the receiver and answered. His face grew pale. "Oh, my goodness," he said, slamming on his hat and rushing from the office.

He had just received word that Griffith had found the report on the Crackers' condition unsatisfactory and had decided not to exercise his option.

The Old Fox had almost saddled himself with a white elephant. Two years later the company was bankrupt and the new one, which opens its local stand today, is brand-new from top to bottom.

Clark Griffith shuts his eyes and shivers every time he enters the local park. He came so close.

JOSEPH WILLING (AND HOW WILLING!) ENGEL.

There was a loud moan of pain from the local baseball reporters when Joseph Willing Engel packed up and went over to Chattanooga, where the franchise could be purchased for a relatively small outlay. The construction of a real baseball park, however, necessitated considerable expenditure.

They went the bunting at Chattanooga last season in a do-or-die effort which sent the club $30,000 into the red. It was an expensive pennant, but most pennants are.

Joe Engel's appearance at Chattanooga saved the Southern association. At the time Mobile, Chattanooga and Little Rock were on the financial rocks, about ready to quit.

Engel made Chattanooga a rich source of income for visiting clubs instead of another trip across the financial desert.

The country boy from Hickman, Ky., has made baseball history for the minors.

PIRATES GIVEN RAIL POSITION IN FLAG EVENT

All Rival Clubs Concede Bucs Top Place; Gibson Not So Sure.

By Brian Bell.

Associated Press Staff Writer. LOS ANGELES, March 29.—(AP)—The other clubs in the National league believe Pittsburgh will be the entry to stop in the championship race. The rank and file of the Pirates admit it, so it is almost unanimous. The manager, Conservative George Gibson, counts no pennants in the spring and reserves his vote.

With the exception of the pitching staff, Manager Gibson knew his 1933 lineup when he started training. A smart winter trade had added Fred Lindstrom, late of the Giants, to an outfield already made impressive by the presence of the Waner boys, Paul and Lloyd, dubbed Big Poison and Little Poison by the opposition.

PITCHING GOOD. The big manager is in no hurry to cut away his surplus pitching talent for he knows if he gets the pitching he should win, barring injuries and other unforeseen baseball incidents. From young Ralph Birkhofer, a free and easy left-hander with a world of stuff, to the experienced veterans, Remy Kremer and Waite Hoyt, the wide variety and ample material in the pitching corps. When the final adjustment is made, the staff should be well balanced.

Larry French, Heine Meine, Bill Swift, Bill Harris and Steve Swetonic appear to be out in front, but Leon Chapman and Hal Smith are reckoned with. Charley Wood, a left-hander who broke in with a lot of promise, was sick last year and could not do himself justice, but he has put on needed additional weight and may make a place for himself.

Kremer and Hoyt have been pitching for many long baseball years and may have to be satisfied with relief roles. This may not be such a dismal prospect after all for pennants have been won by efficient relief pitching. Gibson cannot comfortably carry 11 pitchers through the stress of the approaching campaign but he cannot be blamed if he waits until the last minute to make his decision. The pitching will be the answer to the National league puzzle.

GRACE AT PLATE. Earl Grace will do most of the catching with Pinyan and Pedden, competent firsts, standing by. Gus Suhr at first, Tony Piet at second, Floyd Vaughn at short and the ever-reliable Pie Traynor taking care of third make up an infield offering no immediate problem. Tommy Thewissen, Floyd Young and Bill Brubaker form an adequate second line of defense.

Lloyd Warner, Fred Lindstrom and Paul Waner, reading from left to right, make up about as good an outfield trio as the league boasts, and Gomorsky and Jensen, the extras, are good enough to play in many lineups. Manager Gibson admits his club looks good in advance of the opening of the season, but steadfastly refuses to do more than hope for the best.

One of the most interesting members of the Pirate crew will wear a uniform that is new to him. He is a former major leaguer, a former star, and a former manager. He is a former star, a former manager, and a former star. He is a former star, a former manager, and a former star.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 29.—(AP)—John Tobin, rookie outfielder and former Fordham University baseball star, was returned to the New York Giants today by the Knoxville Smokies. Southern association club, Knoxville had him on option.

All Seats Are Sold For Event at Dublin

By Jack Troy. Mr. L. O. Mosley, the general associate manager of the Piedmont association, was in fine fettle yesterday upon receipt of news that all the seats had been sold for the St. Louis Cardinals-Oglethorpe baseball game, feature day event of the Dublin homecoming celebration Friday.

The ball park seats 1,500 people—and all the seats are gone. That alone would be enough to insure the success of the big celebration. All 1,500 seats sold, with the S. R. O. (standing room only) signs out.

Since the net proceeds of the game will go to charity, the response to Dublin's homecoming day, when all the guests of Dublin and Laurens county who have gone out into the business and legislative fields of Georgia and made their mark, will return for the day, is very gratifying to the Lions Club of Dublin, sponsors.

Some 40 prominent Atlantans, former citizens of Laurens county, have already made plans to be there, Governor Eugene Talmadge will be on hand to toast the first ball game the Cardinals and Petrels take the field at 2:30 p. m.

The celebration will be climaxed by the governor's ball Friday night at the Country Club. Jim Allen, prominent Dublin businessman and member of the Lions Club, has seen to it that nothing will be left out of the celebration. A military band of honor will meet the visiting notables at the edge of town and escort them in royal fashion to the game.

L. O. Mosley was delegated to carry the message to former Laurens county citizens now living in Atlanta. He carried it well.

And as the radio announcers would say: It looks like a big day, folks. What a distinguished gathering. All the best people are here. You should be here to see it.

Truly, it is going to be a banner day for Laurens county.

BARONS DEPEND ON SIX ROOKIES, SMART PITCHING

Milan Figures Veteran Hurlers Aided by Heavier Seamed Ball.

By Steve T. McGinnis.

United Press Staff Correspondent. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 29.—(UP)—Manager Clyde Milan, of the Birmingham Barons, is banking hard on the combination of three factors to lift his club from a mediocre fifth-place outfit of last season to a strong first division team.

The factors are his rookies, the new heavy-seamed ball and a seasoned pitching staff. While managers of several southern club teams are wrestling the rookie problem, Milan is looking upon it as an asset. Upon his six rookies will rest much of the responsibility of old Deerfoot's team. Since the last season's roster, the most drastic rule was the stipulation that six must be Class B in rank, the Barons' fathers have looked far afield for promising ivory.

TWO ROOKIE HURLERS. And Milan is not hesitating any laxity in his mound corps by over-crowding it with risky, young Class B talent. Two of the hurlers will be rookies. They are Abe White, a regular starter last year, and Red Parkes, who won 26 games in the New York-Pennsylvania loop last season. They are seasoned players despite their lower bracket ranking. White being 20 years old, and Parkes 30.

Other sparkling Class B talent will include Hal Willett, local high school product, riding in the pole position in the race for the utility assignment; Bill Atwood, husky backstop, a reformed outfielder, who is better with the bat than with the mitt and who will be pressed into frequent pinch-hitting service; Tom Kane, who probably will be keeper of the hot corner, whose best is defense and who was impressive in a trial with the Barons last year; Stan Tutaj, a sharp right, possessor of a great throwing arm and a possibility to slip in at either third base or the utility post; and Harry Whitehouse, with Cotton States league experience, a fast pair of legs and powerful batting abilities, who finished with the club last year.

Called to infield. Lost from last year's humdrum Barons are Charley Gooch, a weak-batting third baseman, and Pete Susko, corking good first sacker.

Woodley Abernathy has been brought in from outfield to hold down the first base. He will be succeeded in the right garden by Phil Weintraub, a Yiddish giant from the Central League. A left-hander, Weintraub led his loop in home runs last year.

Edly Bancroft, an accomplished base thief, will be back on the second sack. Bancroft and Shine Cortazzo, whose ill health of last year has been banished, are expected to afford Milan one of the league's fastest midfield combinations. Both have displayed a keen eye for the ball in exhibition games thus far.

Aly, reputedly one of the fastest fly hawks in the league, is being hard-pressed for center field by young Whitehouse.

NEW BALL HELPS.

Milan is not alarmed by the age of his mound crew. He expects the new ball to knock five years from the age of each pitcher, being confident that the heavy seams will provide a boon to veterans whose years have provided a sage knowledge of the category of hurling tricks.

In addition to White and Parkes, Milan's coxswains will include the following: Bill Hughes, formerly of Little Rock, who joined the team last year; Jimmy Walkup, one of the league's leading pitcher-batters; Clay Touchstone, rotund curvballer; maestro; Henry Shoaf, who led the pitching staff until near the end of last season, until abashed teeth caused a change; and the 26-year-old manager of that outfit.

Coming in contact with Cronin almost daily in the inter-camp games involving the Crackers and the Senators, the Atlanta party has seen much of the boy manager of the American league. And almost to a man they have voted that he will make good in his new role.

Cronin is not only a great ball player, probably the greatest shortstop in either league right now, but he has a magnetic, inspiring sort of personality that must have a wonderful effect on his ball players. It is easy to see why, of all the players on the Washington club, Clark Griffith, the old fox, selected this young man to succeed the erstwhile idol of Capital fans, Walter Johnson.

Manager Charley Moore, of the Crackers, himself a young man in the profession, but with some four years of managerial experience in his favor, is one of Cronin's biggest boosters.

"I've known him a short time, but it is my opinion that he will have a hustling ball club that will get somewhere this season," Moore said. "The Senators' star shortstop: Several times Cronin, who is constantly on the alert to assimilate whatever he can of the finer points of the game from association and talking with other manager, has come over to the Atlanta bench to chat with Moore while their teams were getting batting practice."

There is nothing high hat about Cronin. He seems to realize that it is the thirder after knowledge who finally acquires it and has applied himself along this line. He is not above asking another manager's opinion about things.

"That fellow Moore seems to have the correct formula for winning pennants, and I'm going to try and find out his secret," Joe said when he first brought his team to Mobile to play an exhibition with Moore's team.

Connie Mack and the veteran big league managers have praised young Cronin's eagerness and curiosity about the managing business. And Mack also is a booster for this clean-cut, fast kid to make his debut in a fast field. Clark Griffith saw the same quality in him. And Griffith's belief in him is stronger than ever after watching his methods in spring training.

GIVES ADVICE. Cronin, incidentally, is just as courteous and polite about giving individual prizes will be awarded to the high scorers.

Atlanta baseball fans will get their first glimpse at the 1933 edition of the Cracker club this afternoon when they appear on Ponce de Leon field with the Washington Senators in an exhibition game. ## Cracker Party "Pulls" For Young Mr. Cronin Washington Manager Has Baseball "It" and Should Go Far; Club a Hustler.

By Jimmy Jones.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 29.—Since the Atlanta Crackers are now in the act of heading homeward to play three games with Gentleman Joe Cronin's Washington Senators, it may be in order to jot down a few observations that a newspaperman has gathered from watching and talking to the 26-year-old manager of that outfit.

Coming in contact with Cronin almost daily in the inter-camp games involving the Crackers and the Senators, the Atlanta party has seen much of the boy manager of the American league. And almost to a man they have voted that he will make good in his new role.

REMADE OUTFIT MEETS SLONS AT 3 O'CLOCK

Kleinbans, Messenger To Do Mound Honors at Ponce de Leon.

By Ralph McGill.

Riding the echoing blasts of their horns, the team that sunk the pennant-winning Minneapolis team in two games at Montgomery, the Crackers arrived in Atlanta last night all set for their debut this afternoon at Ponce de Leon park, where they have an engagement with the Washington Senators. (Not the ones who have been voting "Yes" for Mr. Roosevelt.)

The hour is 3 p. m. Quite a throng is expected to go out to Ponce de Leon park and stare rudely at the Crackers. They have been hiding away on Mobile bay in comparative seclusion. The fans have never seen them in action. And there is more than a mild curiosity about the Crackers now that they have become THE NEW Crackers.

Hans Kleinbans, the star of the "Bee Boys Brigade," and Andy Messenger, veteran of 1932, will pitch for THE NEW Crackers this afternoon. Kleinbans is one of the best batters of the new pitchers. He is very left-handed. Messenger is normal as to throwing.

CENTRAL FIGURES. Since there is more than ordinary curiosity concerning THE NEW Crackers, it might be well to name some of the central figures in the new baseball drama with the understanding that some of the players in the cast may be recast later.

There is a new manager, Mister Charley Moore, of old Kaintuck. There are three new faces in the infield. Pete Susko, who came from the barren Barons at Birmingham and will play first base. Wally Dashiell was let out by Chattanooga in the economy wave and will be at second base. Buster Chatham, the lone survivor of the Cracker infield of last summer, returns at short. Red Rollings, former Card, and former Bear, at third.

Eddie Phillips, who broke in at Nashville in 1927, and who was with the Yankees last season, is the chief reliance behind the catching mask and windmill. He should be the best catcher in the league.

THE OUTFIELD. In the outfield will be Freddie Sington, all-American football star at Alabama three seasons ago; Duck McKee, who played with Tech and Art Weis or Joe Bonowitz, of Louisville and Chattanooga, respectively, in so far as the 1932 season is concerned.

The pitchers list some veterans of 1932—Messenger, Hearn, Blethen, Hasty and Carithers. Hans Kleinbans, of the Piedmont league and a fugitive from the Cardinals chain gang, is one of the "Bee" boys. So is Doc Mayo, who pitched well yesterday.

Those are the chief figures. There may be some changes. The cotton batting will be taken off the boys and they will be subjected to the gaze of the cash customers. They come in with good prospects.

What is more important, they come minus the animus which started past Cracker teams out with two strikes on their chances. The new Crackers are very hopeful of resting baseball to what the boys are pleased to call its pristine glory.

SKILLED PLAY. Washington brings along some notables which should attract the fan flock. Major league baseball is perhaps the finest exponent of skilled sport which one may see. Big league football teams or teams in any other sport never measure up to the skill and precision of a major league baseball team.

Joe Cronin, the 27-year-old manager, brings in some familiar faces. Earl Whitehill, who used to pitch for Birmingham, is one of the familiar ones. Buddy Myer, one-time Pel, is also along. So is Cecil Travis, of Fayetteville, Ga., boy. He is to go back to Chattanooga for another year's seasoning, but is already accounted a great major league prospect. Cliff Bolton, the catcher, is another recent Southern product.

Al Scheacht and Nick Altrock, the two baseball clowns who have saved their money and their hearts out of clowns, are along as entertainers. Rice, Manush, Bluege, Goslin and others are names familiar to every baseball fan.

It should be a good show—the homecoming of THE NEW Crackers. This afternoon at 3 o'clock. The place—Poncey field.

Crackers Take Second Straight.

CRAMFORD, N. C., March 29.—The Crackers made a clean sweep of the two-game series with Minneapolis, defeating the Double-A champions today by the identical score as that of Tuesday, 6 to 3.

Race Horses To Be Given Workout at Lakewood This Morning

FIRST CARLOAD SHIPPED HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Trials Free to Public; Initial Entries From Cuban Tracks.

By Roy White.

A carload of running horses, the first to be shipped here for the spring race program during the week of April 10 at Lakewood park, arrived late Wednesday afternoon. The horses will be given their first workouts at 10 o'clock this morning and will work out each day at the same time, it was announced by Southeastern Fair officials.

The daily workouts, including the week of racing, will be free to the public. H. Veatch unloaded three horses. They were May Play, Absolute and Big Daws.

H. C. Rummage and O. L. Foster unloaded 16 horses and will bring a dozen others here early next week, immediately after the closing of the Tropical park meet in Florida Saturday.

Wednesday's arrivals were from the Cuban tracks, which closed their season last Saturday afternoon.

FIRST SHIPMENT. Included in the carload shipment Wednesday were Price Zelds, Mueller, Zereen, Preferred, Winfield Ann and Miss Hulton, from the Rummage stables, and War Glow, Rolling Sea, Brack, Gallop Along, Lord Tournament, Skiva, Andy, Saucy Mary, Gipsy Chief and Requested, from the Foster stables.

Another shipment of 50 horses is scheduled to arrive today from the New Orleans tracks, and others are slated to arrive Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Horses from the Tropical park track will not arrive until April 6 or 7 and will be given their first workout immediately after arrival.

Sunday, April 9, has been designated as "open house day," in which the public is invited to witness the unloading of a majority of the horses and workouts for many others.

Officials of the Southeastern Fair Association, sponsors of the "wagerless" running races, stated Wednesday that more than 150 of the leading money winners in the winter races at New Orleans, Miami and Havana will be here for the spring program.

Georgia Polo Team Loses Match

ATHENS, Ga., March 29.—The University of Georgia polo team lost its first contest of the season when four Rough Riders from Augusta forged ahead in the last chukker to take a 5-3 decision from the Bulldogs.

Brook McKinley, three-goal handi-capped man, was the star of the day. His fast, daring riding and his superb play drew gasps from the several hundred spectators. McKinley's handicap was not in force today, which was unfortunate for the Bulldogs, as the Rough Rider got four of his team's five goals. Ed Downs was the star for the Bulldogs with two goals, but Captain Crozier Wood played an excellent game.

The Bulldogs will leave Friday morning for Gainesville, Fla., where they play the University of Florida in a two-game series Saturday and Monday. The Bulldogs defeated Florida in two opening games here last week.

Among the good boys who have sent in applications are Ralph Tarrant, Red Barrett, Glenn Lawson, Ed Henson, Sam Cowan, Bill Pope, Kid Cowan, Joe Woodford, Pop Payne, Leon Garvin, Spencer Boggs, Tommy Phillips, Baby Phillips, Billy Phillips, Hamilton Mitchell, Linwood Oxford and Paul Dent. Prizes will reward the participants of the best bouts each night. Prizes will be donated by Mike Benton and Bill Corley, of the Weekly Elevator Works, for the opening round.

Officials will include Wayman Boyles, master of ceremonies; Earl Dunlap, Jack Taylor and Joe Mendoza, popular little Spaniards, who boxed in the amateur shows last season, referees, and Edwards, official timekeeper. Popular prices will prevail.

formation as he is about seeking it. One of the Crackers' young infielders, who is eager to become a great short stop like Cronin, approached the boy manager one day after a game and asked his advice about playing the position. The youngster was fairly carried away when Cronin dropped what he was doing at the moment and talked with him about 10 minutes, giving him all the helpful hints he could think of.

The players on the Washington team, even to the hardened veterans like Sam Rice, who has been a star with the club 18 years, and Ossie Bleuge, the third baseman, who has been on the team 10 years, are ardent admirers of Cronin and will no doubt play their heads off for him.

Certainly anyone who talks with Cronin five minutes is a life-long well wisher for his success. He is altogether one of the most charming fellows in the baseball business.

CUYLER BREAKS LEG IN SLIDING; CUBS GLOOMY

Pennant Hopes Given Severe Setback by Star's Injury.

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—(P)—Chicago's chances of retaining the National league pennant received a severe blow today when Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, one of the finest outfielders in the senior circuit, suffered a fracture of his right leg while attempting to steal second base in an exhibition game with Hollywood.

The accident happened in the fourth inning of the contest, which the Cubs won, 10 to 8. Kiki hesitated a moment as he approached the bag and then decided to hit the dirt.

He was half a step too late in his decision, and his foot caught in the bag, giving his leg a sharp twist. He was carried from the field.

Examination at the Cedars of Lebanon hospital showed what doctors termed a "comminuted fracture of the lower end of the fibula," the smaller bone of the leg. They said a section of the bone three inches in length had been severed from the main bone.

Dunn and Gibbons Settle It Tonight
Dynamite Dunn, sensational West Point fighter, will meet Johnny Gibbons, St. Paul scrapper, in the main event of a well-balanced card at East Point. The program will be staged in the auditorium and will start at 8:30 o'clock.

This bout will be backed up by a bout between Jack Askey and K. O. Bohannon, two slashing fighters. This semi-windup should push the main event for sheer action. Both boys can give and take plenty of punishment.

In meeting Gibbons, Dunn, who has knocked over about all the good boys around here, faces a real major test in his climb to fistic heights. Gibbons brings to Atlanta an impressive record and will be a hard customer to maul. Fans should witness a bout packed with action.

A good set of prelim bouts round out the card, which is being staged jointly by Promoter Beall of the East Point American Legion post. Popular prices will be in order.

Any church-sponsored club desiring admission should communicate with Ernest Wilson at Trammell Scott's store regarding entry. No new clubs will be accepted after next Monday night.

HULL AND LINDSAY CONTINUE PARLEYS

State Department Silent on Progress or Topics of Conferences.

By F. G. VOSEBURGH.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—The great English-speaking nations today bent their efforts anew to the quest for an international economic understanding on which to base world recovery.

For an hour and a half, Secretary Cordell Hull and the state department's most expert assistants on economic matters conversed with Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, on possible Anglo-American contributions to the success of the coming world monetary and economic conference.

Whether war debts entered into the discussion was not disclosed, but the best available information was that Secretary Hull is having his way in the current conversations and that the subject of repudiation of these obligations is treated as merely incidental to broad economic questions.

The same five who engaged in the discussion Monday were present today, ranged in big leather covered chairs around the secretary's desk. They were, besides the secretary and ambassador, Assistant Secretary Raymond Moley, Dr. Herbert Feis, the department's economic advisor, and T. K. Bewley, Lindsay's financial counselor.

The department remained uncommunicative on the question of discussing war debt revision with France and the other countries now in default on their December 15 payments. There was no indication of a change from the position stated last week by Secretary Hull when he said he could not state that the defaulters would be allowed a hearing.

Officials were uncommunicative also although apparently interested in the statement in Paris by Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour, indicating that some action might be taken by France although emphasizing that payment of the $19,000,000 default was difficult with another payment due June 15.

Meanwhile, the appointment of Alvin M. Owsley, of Texas, as minister to Canada, was urged on both President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull today by Senators Connally and Sheppard, of Texas.

Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville, Ky., the new minister to Great Britain, about the same time conferred with President Roosevelt at the White House. He is preparing to sail soon for his post.

SOCIETY REPORTS SYNTHETIC STONE FOR CONSTRUCTION

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—A new synthetic building stone which can be made at low cost from the vast supplies of "dust" and chips in American limestone, granite, marble and slate quarries, was announced today by Purdue University chemical engineers.

This man-made stone is described as something new in science. It is several times stronger than standard building brick. It goes nature one better on color, since any shade desired by the manufacturer's fancy can be incorporated permanently in the stone.

It can be molded into many of the sculptured forms now requiring the chisel. It has been made even from "fly" ash, the annoying part of furnace ashes which fills the air. "Fly" ash is mostly slate.

In making the stone, Purdue machines duplicate the work, in a few hours, of millions of years of nature's stone-building processes. For the "weathering" whereby nature grinds the elements into sediment, Purdue substitutes a grinding machine.

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best known to science. It is made for coughs or colds that hang on, for quick relief, for safety.
Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.
The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, as it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

President Takes Ride Along Potomac Banks

Slipping away from his desk unannounced, the president joined Hall Roosevelt, brother of Mrs. Roosevelt, in the front seat of the bright blue car.

The party rode along the banks of the Potomac to Alexandria and returned without stopping.

British Tactics Hit By Soviet Authority

MOSCOW, March 29.—(AP)—Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff has inferentially accused Britain of attempting "harsh diplomatic pressure" in connection with British subjects arrested on sabotage charges involving the operations of the British Metropolitan Vickers Electrical Company.

The communiqué told of a call made by Sir Esmond Ovey, the British ambassador, to Litvinoff yesterday to acquaint the foreign minister with steps the British government intends to take if the Soviet government places on trial several British subjects charged with sabotage.

Mr. Litvinoff did not wait for the ambassador to explain the measures contemplated by Britain, the communiqué said. Instead, he told the ambassador that the government's decision to try the case "cannot be changed, and if the British government intends to influence this decision by informing us of its intended measures, then the ambassador may be assured that nothing will come of it."

The foreign minister remarked that "matters such as attempted harsh diplomatic pressure from the outside might be successful in Mexico, but in the union of socialist soviet republics they are doomed to failure beforehand."

'DOPE' RINGS NAB CURED PRISONERS, ADDICT TESTIFIES

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—(UP)—A story of how Kansas City and Atlanta dope rings keep watch on prisoners being released from the federal penitentiaries, and lead them back to the drug habit was told today by John Reyes, charged before United States Commissioner R. H. Carter Jr. with violation of the narcotic act.

Reyes said he served a term in the Leavenworth federal prison, and when he was released, in November, 1932, he had been cured of the drug habit.

A runner for a Kansas City dope ring met him near the prison, Reyes asserted, and "virtually forced me to accompany him and spend the $10, which the government gives discharged prisoners, for dope."

"By the time the money was spent, the habit had hold of me again," he told the commissioner.

A government agent at the hearing told the testimony a similar dope outfit is alleged to keep watch on the Atlanta federal penitentiary, checking up on released prisoners.

Atlanta narcotic officers said they had heard rumors of such a dope ring, but have been unable to verify its existence in spite of investigation covering several years.

The officers said that what happens in most cases where addicts get back on "junk" after leaving the prison is that the released prisoner goes back to his old haunts, meets his old associates and is led back to the habit through environment and association. They expressed doubt that there is any organized ring seeking to lead newly discharged prisoners back into the habit.

ATLANTA DANCERS ARE FEATURED IN FLORIDA FETE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 29.—(AP)—An air of festivity spread over this city today and hunting gaily on the eve of the fifteenth annual festival of states celebration.

This year the festival has been condensed in a two-day program, replete with gala events. They will return to Atlanta and will resume their classes here immediately after the close of the pageant.

AUSTRIAN CHANCELLOR IS WARNED BY NAZIS

Party Tells Government That Present Activities Cause Risk of Lives.

VIENNA, March 29.—(AP)—A warning that any agreement signed by the dictatorial regime of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss would not be recognized and that members of the present government were risking their lives was printed today by the Deutsch-Oesterreichische Tageszeitung, organ of the Austrian Nazis.

Newspapers containing the warning were confiscated soon after their appearance.

The warning appeared only a few hours after Nazi demonstrators marched through the inner city in defiance of government decrees, shouting allegiance to Chancellor Adolf Hitler, of Germany, and smashing windows in coffee shops and places of business.

Chancellor Dollfuss was granted dictatorial powers soon after Chancellor Hitler's national socialist party was triumphant in Reichstag and Prussian diet elections in Germany March 5.

"You are playing not only with the lives of our people, but with your own lives, and your heads and your lives," the warning in the Nazi newspaper said.

The government, the warning continued, was acting without authority when it proceeded with what was described as the mortgaging of the people's future income to repay foreign loans.

Recipes of Early American Days Being Revived by Mrs. Roosevelt

By BESS FURMAN.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Herb-flavored, home-prepared, historic dishes—the ones Washington, Jefferson and Jackson ate—have been brought back to the White House table by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Their trend—to quote the culinary researcher who found the recipes—is "away from the food flub-dubs foisted upon us, and back to the days when the onion and the herb were as important as the can-opener."

Mrs. Roosevelt told of having already served two soups of proud pedigree, the gumbo brole that Andrew Jackson particularly liked in New Orleans, and crab meat soup made the way Martha Washington used to make it at Mount Vernon.

Laughingly, Mrs. Roosevelt recalled that Mrs. Washington was once complimented on "her interest in leading the nation back to simple and good foods." And the present first lady frankly admits that is her present-day aim.

To aid those interested in obtaining the most from their food dollar, she has been serving low cost menus prepared by Cornell University. She believes such menus are an effective weapon in combating malnutrition among children.

To stimulate others to greater interest in good foods she is also concentrating on the historic American dishes. She has already had a number of one-bunch celery, 1 outside leaf green cabbage, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon bacon dripping, carcass roast fowl, 1 tablespoon gumbo file powder, 2 quarts cold water, salt and pepper.

Mash and chop all greens, onions as well as tops. Put to simmer in a large pot with the bacon drippings. When they have simmered gently for five minutes, sift in the flour, mix thoroughly and add cold water, salt and pepper, and remains of cold fowl. Let boil very gently in covered pot for one and a half hours. Mix the file powder with a little cold water, add it to the soup, and after cooking one minute longer, serve accompanied by a bowl of well-cooked fluffy rice, a spoonful of which is to be put into each soup plate at the table.

Its commission to Germany probably will be composed of one Protestant, one Catholic and one Jew. Their names will be announced later.

HAVANA, March 29.—(AP)—An extension of the 700,000-ton pool formed by holders of Cuban sugar last July was agreed on "in principle" at a conference today, Senator Viret Gutierrez, president of the Sugar Institute, said.

Gutierrez said the pool would be voluntary, instead of compulsory. He explained that for one reason or another sugar was needed to the pool had fallen to 450,000 tons, but that efforts were being made to round out the 700,000 figure again.

A committee has been named to draw up bases for the new agreement, which will be discussed and probably accepted at another meeting Friday, he added.

TWO BANKING GROUPS FACE FRAUD CHARGES

Major Detroit Institutions Accused of Concealment of Stock Ownership.

DETROIT, March 29.—(AP)—Detroit's two largest banking groups, holding companies for the inactive First National Bank-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, tonight faced new difficulties as charges of "fraud, deceit and trickery" were made against them by the receiver for an outstate bank.

The groups, the Detroit Bankers' Company and the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc., already facing receivership suits, with two other Detroit banks and several banking officials, were charged by Mack E. Watkins, receiver for the Citizens Savings Bank of Mt. Clemens, Mich., with attempting to conceal their ownership of a majority of stock in the closed bank.

The charge was made in a statement filed in Macomb county circuit court petitioning for authority to levy a 100 per cent assessment on all stockholders of the Mt. Clemens bank, because, the receiver stated, the bank's assets have depreciated $1,537,000.

The receiver asked for authority to collect payment from the principals named, and to bring suit against conservators of the two inactive national banks. Hearing on the petition was set for April 20.

NEGRO LOSES FIGHT TO ENROLL AT U. N. C.

DURHAM, N. C., March 29.—(AP)—Thomas R. Hocutt, Durham negro, Tuesday lost the first phase of his legal battle to force his way into the University of North Carolina when Judge M. V. Barnhill declined to place his signature on a preceptory writ of mandamus compelling the university to admit Hocutt to its school of pharmacy.

Judge Barnhill's ruling was made on the ground that the writ of mandamus sought in the complaint was not the proper remedy for relief of the alleged grievance of the plaintiff.

Counsel for the negro immediately filed an appeal from Barnhill's decision and announced they would carry the fight before the supreme court of the state. They were given 60 days in which to file exceptions to the ruling.

MADRID, March 29.—(AP)—Deputy Jimenez Asua has requested the supreme court of the republic to reopen the famous case of 1901 in which Alfonso Sanz y Martinez de Arizola claimed to be a son of King Alfonso XII.

The deputy declared evidence has been uncovered conclusively showing that Alfonso XIII, who was overthrown two years ago and now is living in exile in France, in league with Carlos Bourbon y Bourbon and Fernando Maria de Baviera forced documents disproving the royal claims of De Arizola.

Criminal action and prosecution of the exiled king is demanded.

SYNOPSIS

Bart Burgess, while marooned in a cabin on Folly Island, 50 miles from his Long Island home in Westville, meets a girl in a canoe who lives on a nearby island. Bart learns that she is one of the Bayleys, who have lived in seclusion on the island 15 years. The father travels. Less than a week later Burgess, Bart's father, dies suddenly from a heart attack. He confesses in a letter left for Bart to be a bigamist. The Bayleys of Folly Island are his second family. They know him as Matthew Bayley. He asks Bart, for his invalid mother's sake, to guard the secret, and leaves a fortune to provide for the Bayleys. Bart calls on Mrs. Bayley, posing as a lawyer, and finds her a lovely woman. When Bart realizes he loves Alice he resolves to stay away from Folly Island. He becomes engaged to Lora Sackett, a distant relative and recent divorcee. The Bayleys visit New York and Bart sees them. Juggles Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new-made fortune, known as "Money King," has invited Alice to Westville. Bart tells Alice of his engagement. Alice and her mother are guests of the Warrens for the annual Westville flower show. Mrs. Burgess has the Bayleys in for tea. Alice sees a photograph of Trevor Burgess. Bart suspects his Aunt Augusta's secret and inviting the Bayleys to Westville to expose it. Mrs. Constantham is included in the intrigue. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

thing important?"

"That's the very thing I never seem to say." He turned and smiled wanly; in that second, his eyes off the road, he caught her serious gaze, studying him. It took an effort now to go on acting a part, but he felt that he had to deal with Lora now, as with the rest of them.

"Too bad they didn't see mother's garden," he said.

"O, yeah?" dryly.

"Like a man with a fever, seeing things hotly, crookedly, his disjointed thoughts were conscious Bayley.

"U-huh. And mother's not going with me, if that's the next question. She gives me the fitters lately. And I want to do my dressmaking all by myself. And that's all the answers I'm going to give you, pie."

"I'll come in town and bring you out."

"You're too good. Now you scout home and please don't stop liking me a little." And she ran into the house.

Queer people, these women. Queer, queer people, he kept thinking, as his car went up the gravel, hastening him back home to find a telephone. For he must talk to Alice before any more damage was done; and he must tell her the complete story of Trevor Burgess, or as much of it as he knew.

When Bart stepped into the big hall with the single object of going to his room and using his own telephone, he was met by Aunt Augusta, triumphantly flourishing the key to the drawing room door.

"Where do you think I found it?" she asked in a low, secretive voice.

"Over there on that console table, in plain sight!"

"How stupid of us all," said Bart, well knowing that he had put it there as he went out with Lora.

"We weren't stupid," whispered Aunt Augusta, like an elderly female Phil Vane. "Somebody locked that door and hid the key. Then, when the time came, he or she put it in plain sight, where it could be easily found."

"Much ado about nothing," he grumbled.

"There's more behind it than that," breathed Aunt Augusta. "I think one of those Bayley people did it."

"What would you want to look our door for, and steal our keys?"

"That's what we ought to find out," she said dramatically.

Bart hurried upstairs, but on the first landing he found his mother, a little figure in soft negligee. He knew she had been waiting for his return.

"Telling, I want to talk to you," she said.

He was mad to get to his room and the telephone, but her eager, strained look arrested him.

"What about the Bayleys?" she asked pointedly.

"Well, what about them?" He managed a crooked smile, but his mother's eyes were anxious.

"Augusta says there was something very odd about the way she acted—Mrs. Bayley, I mean—when she met Mrs. Parham today."

"Remember," said Bart woodenly, "that they came from Folly Island."

"Bart, how did you come to know them so well? Why wouldn't mother leave him alone?"

"I don't. Not so very."

"But Mrs. Bayley calls you by your first name. She spoke of you as 'Bart'."

"Fresh of her." He pulled a wooden grin.

"But she's not all the pushing kind. She seems to be quite natural, but she doesn't have much to say, but she's quite lovely."

They sauntered back to mother's room. Maybe it was quite natural that should be so inquisitive. But if only she would let him alone now, not keep digging, digging at the sore.

"I wish you had told me about that wonderful island," she insisted. "And the house you've been building there."

"Mother, you're a jealous cat." He laughed hoarsely.

"Nothing of the sort." She colored prettily. "But if I had known, she wouldn't have taken me so by surprise. I'm glad you like to build, dear. I was thinking you and Lora might take twenty acres down by the shore."

"What's all this fuss about?"

"Bart!"

"How did you even happen to go to Folly Island?"

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Stocks bobbed up and down in their current trading range today, closing lower, but above the minimums of a quiet market.

Light selling of old-time favorites that recently have been subject to pressure found buyers reluctant to take stock except at concessions, and a few losses of a point or two resulted. Yesterday's gain was just erased in the averages, sales totaled 624,796 shares.

American Telephone, Case, American Tobacco, du Pont, Westinghouse and Sears-Roebuck were off around 1/2 to 1, while U. S. Steel and General Motors were up 1/2 to 1. National Distillers Products rallied a point, leading a rise for alcohol shares.

President Roosevelt's message on federal supervision of investments and the accompanying legislation to carry out his proposals gave the financial community plenty of material for study. Steps taken by the federal government to end abuses were for the most part favorably received.

As to the state of trade, markets learned steel had risen a shade, though special factors were responsible for the improvement at new pivot points, which lifted the general price to 15 percent of capacity from 14 percent a week ago. The important steel consumers are still lagging.

Freight statistics, covering last week, seemed to assure a fairly good appreciation over the immediate preceding period. Stocks were at their best when what was advancing on bullish crop estimates. As grains slid off shares also worked into a decline.

Iron Age reports on steel mill operations were accompanied by news of the third successive weekly advance of 25 cents a ton in scrap prices, while some pig iron makers have also posted another increase.

Heaviness of French francs and some French bonds were a reflection of world France had been unable to balance her budget. The dollar generally was firm against gold currencies of Europe.

VET LEADERS TO STUDY COMPENSATION CUTS

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Regulations for reducing compensation have been prepared, but will not be promulgated until representatives of veterans' organizations have looked them over and made known their views.

FIRST LADY RETURNS FROM NEW YORK VISIT

WASHINGTON, March 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt arrived from New York by airplane shortly before noon today, accompanied by Miss Marion Dickerman, principal of Tudor school.

Foreign Markets

LONDON.—Prices of most issues on the stock exchange sagged on profit-taking and support in a quiet session. Argentine rates, however, were an exception, gaining 1/2 to 1 point in the afternoon. Developments in the New York Stock Exchange situation. Oil shares also were supported. The market closed lower.

PARIS.—As a result of better Wall Street action, the market for the new French loan, prices on the bourse were firmer. The closing was irregular.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, March 29.—(P)—United States government securities displayed the only firmness in a generally dull and hesitant bond market today with the trend in most other categories irregularly lower.

Sales totaled $9,762,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate bonds dropped two-tenths of a point.

While the corporate groups mullied about uneasily and the foreign section, led by the Germans, was noticeably heavy, federal loans pushed quietly forward for a ranging from 1-3/4 to 3-1/2 points. Only the treasury 3-1/8s relaxed for a loss of 5-32.

Betterment in the government bond was attributed partly to a further decline in the rate of federal funds as gold and currency continued to flow back to the banking system.

Most German issues slumped to new lows for the year, depressed largely because of muddled political conditions in the republic. The reich 5-1/2s lost 3-3/8 points, the 7s were off 3.

Elsewhere in the foreign department there were numerous casualties. The Italians were easy.

Despite moderate late rallies, secondary domestic rails and some of the higher grade utilities were unable to retrieve early losses. Bonds of American Telephone International Telephone and Detroit Edison sagged fractionally to a point or more. The heavier rails included some liens of Allegheny Corp., Baltimore & Ohio, and Iron Mountain.

Issues of United States Rubber and Kelly Springfield lost 1 to 3 points. Shell Union Pipe Line and United Drug 5s recovered a point each.

A NEW WIDE AREA IN LIFE INSURANCE

FOR THOSE WHO NEED MORE PROTECTION
BUT WANT IT AT REDUCED OUTLAY

A NEW plan for the purchase of permanent life insurance for those who need more protection and who can afford only a minimum outlay is offered by The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, one of the oldest and strongest of companies.

The first year cost is about half the usual cost of permanent life insurance. Yet the contract provides for cash values, loan values, extended insurance, paid-up insurance and annual dividends as earned.

The premium does not jump suddenly in three years nor double in five. It is graded over a period of ten years to enable the policyholder to adjust his budget gradually to the larger outlay of the eventual level premium.

Economical—permanent—without trick features or special restrictions, the contract offers the most simple and direct solution for the problems of more men and women than any policy of which we know. It will enable them to possess a standard article at low cost when better times return. No other contract at comparable outlay offers comparable features.

Let us show you this new solution to your insurance problem. Call or telephone, or mail the coupon below.
